Prof. Thomas Shaw of Minnesots University Gives an Unbiased Opinion.

In a letter to "The Farmer," St. Paul, dated Sept. 1st, 1901, Prof. Thomas Shaw, of the Minnesota State University, has the following to say, after having made a trip through Western Canada:

The capabilities of the immense area known as Western Canada are but little understood on this side of the line. Our people are apt to look upon it as a region of frost and snow, a country in which but small portion of the land relatively will ever be tillable because of the rigors of the climate. True, the climate is cold in winter, but Western Canada has, nevertheless, just that sort of climate which makes, it the most reliable wheat producing country in all the continent.

AN IMMENSE AREA.

Western Canada is not only an immense area, but the same description will apply to those portions of the country that are capable of being successfully tilled or grazed. Nearly all of the prairie Province of Manitoba can be brought under cultivation, although probably not one-third of its surface has been laid open by the plough. Assiniboia to the west is a grain and stock country. Saskatchewan to the north of Assiniboia has high adaptation for the same. This also may be said of Alberta to the west. Here lies what may be termed a grain growing and stock producing empire, the resources of which have been but little drawn upon comparatively, viewed from the standpoint of the agriculturist. When it is called to mind that environment. Experience shows that even in the Peace River Country, several hundreds of miles north of the Canadian boundary, wheat was grown which won a premium at the World's existing conditions, providing better Fair in 1893, the capabilities of this country in wheat production loom up classes seems to be a proper subject more brightly than even the brilliant | for the consideration of state and mu-Northern lights of the land that lies nicipal governments. ADAPTED TO STOCK AND GRAIN PRODUCTION.

The region under consideration is, however, mainly adapted to growing grain and grazing stock. The ing facilities it becomes the duty of the profitable use of their time that adaptation of the country for wheat production is of a high character. Affairs The cool nights that usually characterize the ripening season are eminently favorable to the filling of the grain, and to the securing of a plump berry, and consequently large yields. The crop this year is a magnificent one. In Manitoba and the Territories it should certainly give an average of more than 20 bushels per acre. But should the yield be not more than 20 bushels, the crop will be a most handsome one, owing to the large area sown to wheat. Many farmers only grow grain. But those who do suceced as well in growing oats and barley as in growing wheat, hence these foods for live stock should always be abundant. Some grow cattle mainly and others combine the two. The last named, of course, is rioubtless the safest of the three during a long course of years, that is to say, where such farming is practicable.

QUALITY OF LIVE STOCK. It was a pleasurable surprise to note the high quality of the stock. The average of quality in cattle is higher than the average of cattle in our State, unless in the dairy classes. This opinion is not reached rashly or without ample opportunity for investigation. I spent three long days in the show ring at Winnipeg making the awards in the beef classes. I question if any of our states, single handed, could make such a showing in cattle. It was my privilege to make the awards at several shows, and at all of them were evidences that much attention is given to the improvement of the stock. I noted carefully the character of the herds that grazed along the railroad and everywhere the high average of the quality of the stock was in evi-

There is no agency in the world that has a greater influence upon the welfare of the people than the one which directly affects their health and social improvements in the dwellings of the poor have had a decided influence upon the character of the inmates. Under habitations for the poorer working most important step is the enactment of proper sanitary and building laws and the inauguration of a thorough system of tenement house inspection. into competition with the world will best maintain its place in the struggle for national supremacy.

It is the duty of the nation to cultivate independent thought, keen political training and a divine discontent.

The nation that does this with the greatest success will be the nation that is strongest, for if the nation is politically and commercially trained, eager to better itself, it cannot fail to maintain its place. The nations need to rear a race of men and women alive to the demands of the age and of their country, and able to cope with the needs of their country and their time. If the education fails in this, it is futile, and the nation must inevitably decline.

, What race is best fitted to receive this training?

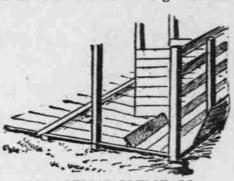

I unhesitatingly answer, the Anglo-Saxon. The Anglo-Saxon stock is capable of anything, whether it be the thickly with ashes. When dry repeat Anglo-Saxon of America or of Europe. I cannot help believing it to be the noblest, except, perhaps, the Roman at his best, and capable of indefinite possibilities beyond the conception even of the Roman with training, intelligence and determination.

When we talk about preserving the quality of milk in hot weather we must remember that some milk keeps better than others. I mean by this that there are different grades of resistance to the action of degenerative bacteria, and that some milk will keep sweet and pure longer than other kinds unfer the same conditions. How is this to be accounted for? one would naturally ask. First, the healthfulness and vigor of the cow in a great measure warrant the healthfulness and pur-Ity of her milk, as does also the character of the food she eats. Thrown from His Cab Killed.

The following is a most interesting and, in one respect, pathetic tale:—
Mr. J. Pope, 42 Ferrar Road, Streatham,

"Yes, poor chap, he is gone, dead—horse bolted, thrown off his seat on his cab he was driving and killed—poor chap, and a good bolted, thrown off his seat on his cab he was driving and killed—poor chap, and a good sort, too, mate. It was him, you see, who gave me the half-bottle of St. Jacobs Oil that made a new man of me. 'Twas like this: me and Bowman were great friends. Some gentleman had given him a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil which had done him a lot of good; he only used half the bottle, and remembering that I had been a martyr to rheumatism and sciatica for years, that I had literally tried everything, had doctors, and all without benefit, I became discouraged, and looked upon it that there was no help for me. Well," said Pope. "You may not believe me, for it is a miracle, but before I had used the contents of the half-bottle of St. Jacobs Oil which poor Bowman gave me, I was a well man. There it is, you see, after years of pain, after using remedies, oils, embrocations, horse liniments, and spent money on doctors without getting any better, I was completely cured in a few days. I bought another bottle, thinking the pain might come back, but it did not, so I gave the bottle away to a friend who had a lame back. I can't speak too highly of this wonderful pain-killer."
